FALL HARVEST

Bring autumn colors indoors to decorate your table in seasonal hues.

By Angie Brown / Photography Mac Jamieson / Photo Styling by Amy Burke and Lucy Wilson

Vibrant red leaves, cheerful yellow chrysanthemums, and bright orange pumpkins signal that autumn has arrived. Take a cue from nature, and dress your table accordingly, using colorful bouquets of flowers, real or silk leaves, and miniature pumpkins or squash to spruce up your tablescape and to usher in the season.

Family and friends will enjoy pulling up a chair to this colorful tea table. Yellows, oranges, and greens add pizzazz, with small faux pumpkins taking center stage atop seasonal-hued dinnerware and solid green flower plates. Monogrammed tea towels lend a festive fall feel while serving as place cards and party favors. Bright clusters of flowers surrounding sturdy candelabras, together with a long, natural linen runner, anchor this relaxed yet refined tablescape.

All it takes to find inspiration during this season is a look outside. Mimic the bright foliage with your own china as well as decorative touches to create the perfect autumn table the next time you welcome family or friends.
